

PROPOSALS,

Through means of a subscription of 2d. or the least mite, and not exceeding 3s. each person, for carrying into effect, in a loyal, constitutional and unexceptionable manner, a discovery that has been lately made of the complete and divine plan of human prosperity and happiness; as the proposals are intended to embrace the subscriptions of the and circle or contiguous country, of as well as of the kingdom at large.

For it might be expected, and it is now perfectly ascertained, that there was originally provided by the Almighty, a true and genuine plan of human prosperity and happiness for the use of Nations and Individuals in this World, which is adequate to all their wants and rational desires, and to the different exigencies and incidents of our Species on Earth. It is now found to be a plan competent in every respect to remove our tithes and burdens, as well as to preserve the nation from the imminent destruction that threatens it; competent in every respect not only to procure permanent and advantageous peace, but every thing great and good, the enjoyment of which can in reason be expected, as requisite for public and private prosperity and happiness. The plan has been given to us by our God on easy terms, namely, that we should discover it ourselves, and when we have discovered it, carry it into effect. Thus, the discovery having been brought to perfection by a man whose life has been wholly devoted to it, the rectifying of public affairs, and the making of ourselves at this alarming crisis, as happy and prosperous as mortals can be on Earth, are in our own power. They now wholly depend upon our own will; and by no means upon any insufficient dispensations, and niggard bounties of the Almighty, shown to Man, the first of his terrestrial works.

It is unnecessary to remark, that the carrying of the discovery into effect is an endearing object, which interests every man in the highest degree, whatever station of life he occupies. But the present proposals consider the carrying of the discovery into effect to be a most pious duty, the actual discharge of which every Man owes to the Almighty, to his country, and to himself, and when known to him, will think indispensable on his own account. The proposals therefore afford every man, even the poorest, the opportunity of contributing his mite towards it, and, by his concurrence with the grand plan of Almighty God, of effecting his own prosperity and happiness, both in the present and the life to come, while he ensures the blessings of God to his country. It remains to add, it will be found an easy undertaking, and show it's divine origin in it's own facilities. Different parts of the discovery, before it was brought to maturity, were adopted by the four preceding administrations; and they now prove the validity of the whole, since they have been found effective under the most adverse circumstances, even so as to answer purposes altogether different from those of the Discovery.

The conditions of the proposals are as follows. Each Subscriber according to the amount of his contribution is to receive present value from 2d. to 1s. 6d. in different tracts, that will fully explain the discovery and the proper means of carrying it into effect. The remainder of the subscription as it exceeds the latter sum, is to be expended under suitable regulations, in addressing or petitioning the different branches of the legislature, and in recommending to the inhabitants of other great market Towns and Cities, and their surrounding circles, to concur with the inhabitants of the circle of in petitioning the Legislature, in order that all the various and infinitely interesting purposes of the plan, may be carried without delay into complete effect.

Present Treasurer and Secretary of the circle

T. Crampson Printer, Barnard Castle.

C 1790